

What is friendship ?

Through communicating with friends, we can know each other better.

We learn strengths from them taking their shortcomings as a good lesson.

Playing with friends, we not only wouldn't feel upset or nervous, and we don't have to wear masks in front of them. We can show real personalities in each other.

Friends are our best teachers who teach us how to love and respect.

There are variety of people in the world, having different background, culture and personalities.

How different and unique we are. What we have to do is to respect other who differ from us.

A life without a friend is a life without sun.

Friendship is the golden thread that ties the hearts of all the world.

Between friends all is common!

A friend is best found in adversity.

Because of belief, we can laugh louder and tell secrets to each other.

A friend is one who believes in you when you have ceased to believe in yourself.

There you have me, accompanied by friends, will not lonely. Because we put our head on friends' shoulders whenever we feel like crying. And they brighten your life when you've been through a storm.
